The 1942 Terra Mariae

The Year Book of the School of Pharmacy of the University of Maryland

Dedication

The 1942 edition of the "Terra Mariae" is dedicated to one who has been closely connected with the School of Pharmacy for nearly two decades. His great friendliness and understanding have endeared him to all, from freshman to senior. He has always commanded our respect because of his superior knowledge and individual teaching ability.

We humbly inscribe this year's "Terra Mariae" to Dr. Frank J. Slama, sincerely hoping our efforts prove a fitting tribute to him.

DR. FRANK J. SLAMA

Foreword

We of the staff of the 1942 edition of the "Terra Mariae" extend our heartiest thanks to the student body and faculty for their fine cooperation, without which this book could not have been published. In appreciation, we have attempted an innovation in year books by making this year's annual an origination in both style and method of recording scholastic events.

To the senior class we present our new feature, "The Album of Memories," and hope in the coming years it will mirror the reflections of those days when despair and happiness were intermingled in the common goal—to successfully pass the required four years of Pharmacy School.

Throughout this volume we have followed the policy that sentimentality is an important principle in year-book production and have presented this by both word and picture.

There is no denying the fact that we are now fighting a war for our basic human freedoms. In this struggle all crafts, professions, businesses and vocations must give their fullest effort to see that the Democracies emerge victorious.

One of the most vital sources of assistance will be found in the crucibles held by the trained hands of our Graduate Pharmacists. If it were possible for each member of your class to speak out what is in his heart, I know his sentiment would embrace the thought: "I have a heavy responsibility to my fellow-humans, and I shall do everything possible to insure my Country's future in glorious freedom."

When this class steps forth to its destiny, let your high ideals lead you to great accomplishment for the relief of your fellow Americans.

With kindest regards and best wishes for success,

HERBERT R. O'CONOR,
Governor.

HARRY CLIFTON BYRD, B.S., LL.D., D.Sc.
President of the University of Maryland

Completion of any job is one of the hallmarks of success, and it is with a conscious satisfaction that you have successfully completed four years in pharmaceutical education stand today with this achievement to your credit. Especially should you take pride in the fact that this education has been of the type which evidences a desire on your part to dedicate yourselves to a lifetime of service in the field of public health.

You have played your parts well, and the University has every confidence that it will be just as proud of you in the way you carry on through life as it is now on the day of your graduation.

My best wishes to you all.

HARRY C. BYRD,
President

When future historians record world events, they will no doubt refer to the present war as the greatest of all times—a war in which the peoples of one-half the world were arrayed against the peoples of the other half in an endeavor to preserve the freedom of nations and the democratic way of life. To us, the year 1942 will mark the time when our country entered the war.

As members of the graduating class of this year, you will, therefore, receive your diplomas at a most critical time in the life of our country. It will be at a time when every citizen will be making an all-out effort to build up the armed forces and to produce the materials necessary to bring victory to the nations with which we are allied.

At a time such as this, your opportunity for service to your country and to the cause which it has championed will be unlimited. I am confident that you will give the best that is in you to serve your country in this critical period and thus maintain the traditions of the founders of the State of Maryland and of your Alma Mater. I congratulate you upon completing your formal education at a time when the opportunities for outstanding service are so great.

A. G. DuMEZ,
Dean

LYMAN SPALDING
1775-1821

Dr. Lyman Spalding was born in Cornish, New Hampshire, on June 5, 1775, and died in Portsmouth, New Hampshire, October 30, 1821. He was graduated at Harvard Medical School, with the degree of M.D., in 1797. In 1798, while still a student, he assisted Professor Nathan Smith in establishing the medical school at Dartmouth, collected and prepared chemical apparatus, delivered the first course of lectures at the opening of the institution, and published "A New Nomenclature of Chemistry," proposed by Messrs. De Movau, Lavoisier, Berthollet and Fourcroy, with additions and improvements.

His medical studies were afterward continued at Cambridge and Philadelphia, and he entered upon the practice of medicine at Portsmouth, New Hampshire. He was given the degree of M.D. by Dartmouth in 1804 and Harvard in 1811.

With Dr. Spalding originated the plan for the formation of the "Pharmacopoeia of the United States," by the authority of all the medical societies and medical schools in the Union. He subjected the project to the New York County Medical Society, and in 1818 it was adopted by the Medical Society of the State of New York. The first edition of the work was published in 1820, and a new one is issued every ten years.

Dr. Spalding was a contributor to medical and philosophical journals, and, besides several lectures and addresses, published "Reflections on Fever, and Particularly on the Inflammatory Character of Fever," "Reflections on Yellow Fever Periods," and "A History of the Introduction and Use of Scutellaria Lateriflora as a Remedy for Preventing and Curing Hydrophobia." He was active in introducing into the United States the practice of vaccination as a prevention of the smallpox, and was a trustee of the only free school that New York then possessed.

HISTORY OF THE School of

THE need of an institution where apprentices in pharmacy could be given systematic instruction in the sciences underlying their profession has long been felt by leading pharmacists and physicians of Baltimore, when in 1841 a charter was obtained from the General Assembly for the Maryland College of Pharmacy. The incorporators, seventeen in number, and among whom were Messrs. George M. Andrews, Thomas G. MacKenzie, R. Rush Roberts, Robert Coleman and Dr. David Stewart, immediately organized and established courses of instruction in chemistry, pharmacy and materia medica. These men carried on the work of the college until 1847, when, owing to the death of some members and change of business of others, they were compelled to suspend all lectures. During the period of operation, however, they graduated a number of eminent pharmacists, to whose efforts in resuscitating and reorganizing the college in 1856 much is due. Among the older graduates appear the names of Messrs. Frederick A. Cockrane, Alpheus P. Sharp, William S. Thompson, Samuel Rodgers, J. Faris Moore, John W. Read and Christian Steinhofer. Of these, Messrs. Alpheus P. Sharp and William S. Thompson were not only earnest and active supporters of the college, but were adornments to the profession they represented, as well as graduates of whom their Alma Mater might well be proud.

In 1856, at the request of the graduates and a number of Baltimore pharmacists, the president, Mr. George W. Andrews, called a meeting which resulted in the election of thirty-one new members, and a thorough reorganization of the college. The new Board of Trustees established three professorships: Dr. Lewis Steiner was elected Professor of Chemistry; Dr. Charles P. Frick, Professor of Materia Medica, and Israel Grahame, Professor of Pharmacy. A course of lectures was given during the season 1857-1858 to a class of intelligent and appreciative students, and the college took a new lease on life, which has since been maintained.

Dr. David Stewart gave the lectures in pharmacy during the period 1841-1846. Following the reorganization, the chair of Pharmacy was filled by Professor Israel J. Grahame, who was succeeded by Mr. P. Phillips, an earnest and interesting instructor. The sudden death of Professor Phillips caused the election of J. Faris Moore to the vacancy. Professor Moore was one of the oldest graduates of the college, and was a consistent and zealous worker in behalf of his Alma Mater and in the interest of pharmacy until his death. He continued in the chair of Pharmacy for nine teen years, when, on resignation of the chair of Materia Medica by Professor Baxley, he was chosen Professor of Materia Medica. Then, on March 8, 1879, Dr. Charles Caspari, Jr., who was later to play such an important part in the history of the Maryland College of Pharmacy, was elected Professor of Pharmacy, which chair he continued to fill until his death on October 13, 1917. He was succeeded by Dr. Evander F. Kelly, class of 1902, who held the professorship until January, 1926, when it was taken over by Dr. John C. Krantz, Jr., class of 1919, who held it for one year. Andrew G. DuMez, Ph.G., B.S., M.S., Ph.D., the present Dean, now holds the professorship.

Mr. William E. A. Aiken was lecturer in chemistry from 1841-1846. From 1856 the professorship of chemistry was filled for a number of years by Dr. Louis Steiner. On his departure from the city, he was succeeded by Professor Alfred Mayer, who afterward moved to New York. He was, in turn, succeeded by a graduate of the college, Dr. Helsby, who remained a few years and then entered upon the practice of medicine. The chair was then occupied by Dr. De-Rosset, a man of great ability and a popular lecturer. Upon his resignation in 1873, the Board of Trustees elected the able and energetic Professor William Simon, Ph.D., M.D., to fill the vacancy. Daniel Base, Ph.D., became associated with Dr. Simon in 1895, and was elected Professor of Chemistry in 1902, which position he held until his resignation in 1920 to become associated with Hynson, Westcott & Dunning. The teaching of the basic courses in chemistry are under the direction of the Department of Chemistry of the University of Maryland. In 1936 Glenn L. Jenkins, B.S., M.S., Ph.D., Professor of Pharmaceutical Chemistry since 1927, resigned to accept a similar position in the School of Pharmacy of the University of Minnesota. Walter H. Hartung, B.A., Ph.D., who had been research chemist for Sharp & Dohme for a decade, is the present head of the department.

Messrs. David Stewart and William S Reese were the lecturers in Materia Medica 1844-1846. Dr. Charles P. Frick was elected Professor of

Pharmacy

Materia Medica, June 5, 1856, and on April 7, 1858, Professor Frick, having been called to the chair of Materia Medica in the old University of Maryland School of Medicine, was succeeded by Professor Frank Donaldson, M.D. Like his predecessor, he was called to a professorship in the University of Maryland. He was succeeded by Professor J. R. Winslow in 1863, and the latter, on June 1, 1886, by Claude Baxley, M.D., who ably filled the position until 1879, when declining health caused him to sever his connection with the college. He, in turn, was followed by J. Faris Moore, M.D., who continued in this chair until his sudden death on February 3, 1888, when Dr. David M. R. Culbreth, who had always been an ardent worker for his Alma Mater, ably and efficiently held the professorship until June 10, 1920, when he resigned from active duty and became Professor Emeritus. Dr. Charles C. Plitt, Ph.G., Sc.D., of the class of 1892, served as Professor of Botany and Pharmacognosy until his death in 1933. Assistant Professor Frank J. Slama, B.S., M.S., Ph.D., who is an alumnus of the school, and who completed his graduate studies at the University of Maryland, was appointed to head the department in 1938.

Great advances have been made in the profession of pharmacy since 1856, and it has been found necessary to enlarge the curriculum from time to time to keep abreast of this progress. In the broadening of its curriculum, the school has been guided largely by the standards set by the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy. In 1902 the school was one of the first in America to give a special course in prescription compounding, consisting of both lectures and laboratory work.

Dr. Henry P. Hynson was elected Professor of Dispensing Pharmacy, and continued in this chair until 1916, when he was succeeded by J. Carlton Wolf, B.S., Phar.D., Sc.D., who now heads the department. In 1913 courses in pharmaceutical arithmetic, pharmaceutical law were added. In 1927 the work in commercial pharmacy was expanded. Later principles of economics was added as a basic subject in this department, which is now known as the Department of Economics. This department is presided over by Miss B. Olive Cole, Phar.D., LL.B., who is also Professor of Pharmaceutical Law.

In 1921 the curriculum was further broadened to include the general educational subjects, English, romance languages, algebra, trigonometry, zoology and physics. In the same year provisions were made for teaching bacteriology. A separate department was in charge of Assistant Professor Arthur H. Byran, V.M.D., B.S., M.A. Since 1937 the department has been presided over by Associate Professor Thomas C. Grubb, A.B., Ph.D., whose experience includes commercial work, public health work and research in bacteriology.

In 1930 a Department of Pharmacology was organized in the school to give instruction in bioassaying. The equipment of this department and its maintenance were made possible through the generosity of the late Captain Isaac E. Emerson, who endowed it liberally. In 1938 Marvin R. Thompson, Ph.C., B.S., Ph.D., Emerson Professor of Pharmacology since 1930, resigned to accept the Directorship of the Warner Institute of Therapeutic Research. Clifford W. Chapman, B.A., M.Sc., Ph.D., who had been with the Laboratory of Hygiene, Department of Pensions and National Health of Canada, which department is in charge of drug control in the Dominion, and in which he held the position of pharmacologist, is now the present head of the department.

Following the reorganization of the Maryland College of Pharmacy in 1856, control was vested in the offices of the College President, First and Second Vice-Presidents, Treasurer and Secretary, who, together with the Board of Examiners (three members), constituted the Board of Trustees. The first President was Mr. Thomas G. MacKenzie, 1840-1842, followed by Mr. Benjamin Rush Roberts from 1842 to 1844. Mr. George W. Andrews was President from 1844 to 1871, and was followed in succession by such illustrious pharmacists as Dr. J. Brown Baxley, Dr. J. Faris Moore, Dr. John F. Hancock, Dr. Joseph Roberts, Dr. Edwin Eareckson, Mr. William S. Thompson, Mr. Louis Dohme and Mr. Charles E. Dohme (1894-1904). In 1904 it became a department of the State University, when the old University of Maryland was merged with the Maryland State College. With the last merger, control was transferred to the offices of the University. The control of the University of Maryland is now vested in the Board of Regents, of which Henry Holzapfel, Jr., is chairman. A

History of the School

Faculty Council, composed of the Dean and certain members of the Faculty, control the internal affairs of each separate school comprising the University.

Dr. Charles Caspari, Jr., became Dean of the Maryland College of Pharmacy in 1896, and continued as Dean after the merger of the college with the old University of Maryland until his death on October 13, 1917. Dr. Daniel Base succeeded him, but because of conditions incident to the World War, Dr. Base obtained leave of absence to teach in another department, and Dr. Evander F. Kelly was elected Dean on September 30, 1918. This office was held by Dr. Kelly until December 31, 1925, when he became Secretary of the American Pharmaceutical Association. Dr. Andrew G. DuMez, formerly Associate Pharmacologist, Hygienic Laboratory, U. S. Public Health Service, succeeded Dr. Kelly and is the present Dean.

The first classes were held in a small room at Gay and Baltimore Streets, the office of Thomas G. MacKenzie, who was one of the founders of the college. From April 24, 1844, until 1847 the lectures were given in the amphitheatre of the University of Maryland, located at Lombard and Greene Streets. After the reorganization of the college in 1856, classes were held in rented halls: viz., Eutaw and Lexington Streets, Calvert and Water Streets, the hall of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty at 47 North Calvert Street, and 12 West Baltimore Street. Early in 1876 Female Grammar School No. 3, located on Aisquith Street, was purchased from the City of Baltimore, remodeled and fitted up to accommodate the work of the college. In 1887 this building was torn down and a three-story modern structure erected in its place. The latter building was occupied until 1904, when the Maryland College of Pharmacy was almalgamated with the group of professional schools in Baltimore then known as the University of Maryland. At this time the college moved to Lombard and Greene Streets, where it has remained ever since. In January, 1930, the college moved into the building erected by the State to accommodate the work of the Schools of Dentistry and Pharmacy which it now occupies.

The present building is the realization of a great need for adequate quarters in which to teach the honored profession of Pharmacy in Maryland. Every one interested in Pharmacy may well be proud of this splendid building, as well as of the modern equipment and apparatus which have been provided for demonstration and teaching purposes.

From the foregoing account, it will be seen that the School of Pharmacy of the University of Maryland, which began its existence as the Maryland College of Pharmacy, has exercised its functions as a teaching institution since 1841 except for the ten-year period 1846 to 1856. In spite of its vicissitudes, it has steadily borne itself onward and upward. It has steadily increased and improved its facilities to enable it to impart instruction in keeping with the advancement of pharmaceutical knowledge. It was the first institution of its kind to establish a professorship of Pharmacy, and thereby allocate to that branch of learning an individuality of its own. It was the first institution to have a course on the manufacture of the various galenical preparations of the United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary, as well as the first to have a separate course in dispensing pharmacy. It was also one of the first schools to make analytical chemistry obligatory for graduation. In still other lines its leadership has been manifest, particularly in the textbooks published by members of its teaching staff and in its efforts to advance the standard of pharmaceutical education. Dr. William Simon's "Manual of Chemistry" is now in its twelfth edition, and Dr. David M. R. Culbreth's "Manual of Materia Medica and Pharmacology" and Caspari's "Treatise on Pharmacy" are still being used in a number of our colleges of pharmacy. The first convention of representatives of Colleges of Pharmacy was held in Baltimore on September 13, 1870, on invitation of Dr. Henry P. Hynson, a member of the Faculty of the Maryland College of Pharmacy. Again in 1900 it was Dr. Hynson who issued the call for the conference of pharmaceutical educators which resulted in the formation of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy.

The result of all the foregoing activities has been a steady growth in the size and influence, so that the school now holds a position in the front ranks of the teaching institutions of its kind in his country.

MARTIN INVENTIUS WILBERT

1865-1916

Martin I. Wilbert was born at West Leyden, Lewis County, New York, June 1, 1865. He attended a private school in Utica, spent some time in the employ of a drug store, and then entered the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, from which he graduated with honor in 1890. After owning a retail store in Philadelphia for a very short time he was appointed apothecary to the German Hospital, Philadelphia, where he arranged and thoroughly equipped a complete hospital pharmacy.

In 1908, Dr. Wilbert left the German Hospital to accept a position in the federal government, as assistant in the Division of Pharmacology of the Hygienic Laboratory, United States Public Health Service.

Dr. Wilbert was a well read, many-sided man who took a deep interest in affairs and was particularly active in the advancement and betterment of his profession. He was a participant in the affairs of the Franklin Institute, the American Pharmaceutical Association, the American Roentgen Society, and the American Medical Association. He was a member of the Committee on Revision of the United States Pharmacopoeia, the Committee of the National Formulary, the Committee on Recipe Book of the American Pharmaceutical Association, and a member of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy.

Martin I. Wilbert was regarded by all who knew him as a particularly fine type of man. His wide knowledge, kindliness, and good common sense, which he had in large measure, commanded respect and admiration from all who came in contact with him, either in business or social manner.

Dr. Wilbert had always spoken of the German Hospital in Philadelphia as "home." And in the home that he loved so well and among friends of many years, it was vouchsafed him to pass into the great beyond.

Class President's Message

Fellow Classmates:

In the parting greetings to you, I wish to express my appreciation for your confidence in entrusting to me your presidency and the honor in selecting me for such service.

I feel sure that we will always find great encouragements in the knowledge that we received our professional training from the outstanding professors and instructors of the faculty of the School of Pharmacy, University of Maryland.

For four years we exerted continuous effort and through diligent study we have endeavored to fit ourselves for public service in the capacity of pharmacists, and for the welfare of our fellowmen we consecrate our lives and service. We shall strive endlessly for the betterment of our profession and for the preservation of its ideals.

In a world torn and disrupted by war, cruelty, tyranny and oppression, it is the hope of peace with Victory that should be our beacon light to guide us as we go forth on our way to take part toward this great goal.

So we look ahead with hope and faith; hope that a bleeding world will soon be at peace again, and faith in the continuance of our American way of life and the preservation of our traditions of Liberty, Justice and Freedom.

Sincerely yours,

ELMAR BERNGARTT.

Elmar has been the most zealous member of our group. Last year he directed the sports events of the school with much enthusiasm, and this year he has conducted the office of fourth-year presidency with equal ardor and great dignity. We admire his rigid self-discipline and his passionate ambition. Whatever his goal, no obstacle will be too difficult for him to surmount.

He possesses the rare gift of being able to ridicule himself, and has thus furnished us many laughs at his own expense. Until one has seen him raise his eyebrow and heard his silly laugh, one hasn't met the Class of '42. In Milton we have had a most enjoyable companion and a close friend.

STEPHEN PANAMAROW

JACK OKEN

JACK OKEN
Baltimore City College — Alpha Delta Omega

400 West 29th Street, Baltimore, Maryland

Jack has pursued his college work with seriousness, which is perfectly balanced by a gayety that has made him a friend to all. However, he is one student who doesn't believe in fiddling away his time.

STEPHEN PANAMAROW — "Panny"
Baltimore City College — Phi Delta Chi

1269 Riverside Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland

Co-Chairman Senior Prom Committee.

Rough, tough and hairy! Throughout his four years with us Steve has attempted to persuade us that those were his characteristics. Instead, we have found that he has in reality a "heart of gold." Nothing is too much for him to do for another. So long, Steve. Good luck.

SHERMAN PRITZKER — "Buddy"
Baltimore City College — Phi Alpha

2328 Ocala Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland

Co-Chairman Senior Prom; Basketball 2, 3, 4; Freshman-Sophomore Dance Committee 1, 2; Bowling 3, 4; Vice-President Student Auxiliary 2; Softball 2, 3, 4; Mixer Committee 2, 3, 4; Junior Prom Committee.

Buddy has always entered into the spirit of things. Class problems, student activities, fraternity doings have all found him in their midst. Because of his kindness and amiability, he is considered one of the best friends of '42. As he leaves he carries with him the affection and best wishes of every member of our group.

MILTON REISCH

SIDNEY SACKS

MELVIN SHOCHET

MILTON REISCH "Milt"
Baltimore City College Phi Alpha, Rho Chi
222 North Luzerne Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland

Student Council 2, 3, 4; Vice-President Student Council 3; President of Student Council 4; Mixer Committee 3, 4; Manager Bowling Team 3; Senior Prom Committee 4.

Often have we sought his aid; never have we been refused. During these four years he has never been anything but amiable; perhaps he is incapable of ire? He is a superior technician, a brilliant student and a prince of a person.

SIDNEY SACKS "Sid"
Baltimore City College Rho Chi
2906 Ridgewood Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland

Chairman Dance Committee 2; President Junior Class; Business Manager Terra Mariae 4; President Student Auxiliary 4.

Sid has skillfully served the class in many capacities. Throughout he has maintained a high scholastic average, and his clever mind and fine character have brought him many friends. His outstanding achievement has been managing the business end of this year book.

MELVIN SHOCHET "Mel"
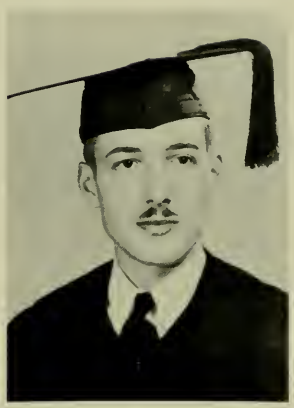
Baltimore City College Phi Alpha
University of Maryland Dental School
2637 Loyola Southway, Baltimore, Maryland

Junior Prom Committee 3; Softball 3; Basketball 4; Senior Prom Committee; Mixer Committee 4; Class Treasurer 4; Student Auxiliary 4.

Congeniality is a trade word with Melvin. It has not been until this past year that the class began to appreciate this quiet, unassuming chap with the big smile. Mel has been a pillar of strength to his fraternity and carries with him the good wishes of all.

SIDNEY SMULOVITZ



EUGENE CLAYTON WEINBACH

WARREN ELDRED WEAVER

SIDNEY SMULOVITZ "Smul"
Baltimore City College

2338 Reisterstown Road, Baltimore, Maryland

When he indulges in a fit of laughter everyone else succumbs also. He is an appreciative listener, a capable student and a genuine friend. We have enjoyed our association with "Smul," and sincerely hope that he will always be successful and happy.

EUGENE CLAYTON WEINBACH "Bachie"
Baltimore City College

4114 Groveland Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland

Vice-President 2.

"Bachie" has always been a favorite of '42 because of his kindness and sincerity. He has been ready to befriend and happy to assist. We shall not forget his hearty laughter, which has brightened many hours for his classmates. We hope the future holds the happiness of which he is so deserving.

WARREN ELDRED WEAVER "Weav"
Dundalk High School Phil Delta Chi, Rho Chi

117 Patapsco Avenue, Dundalk, Maryland

Sergeant-at-Arms 1, 2; Softball 2, 3, 4.

We have derived a great deal of pride and satisfaction from Warren. He has always stood for everything we liked best in a college student: good sportsmanship, absolute integrity, fine perception of justice, unfaltering courage, a brilliant mind. Just as we have enjoyed his friendship, so shall we rejoice in his successes.

WILSON MONROE WHALEY, JR.

WILSON MONROE WHALEY, JR.
Baltimore Polytechnic Institute — Rho Chi
Universtiy of Maryland Pre-Dental School

Vice-President 4; Laboratory Technician, Dept. of Chemistry 4

3314 Shelburne Road, Baltimore, Maryland

When Wilson Whaley entered our class, we were elated at the prospects of having him in our group, as he had already established an enviable reputation for himself by his superior intellect. His quiet dignity, his absolute sincerity, combined with his great acumen have won the respect of all who know him. Through his life of assured attainment he will bear the regards and best wishes of his classmates.

Our class pres., who rarely says anything but never misses a thing.

BERNARD MYERS
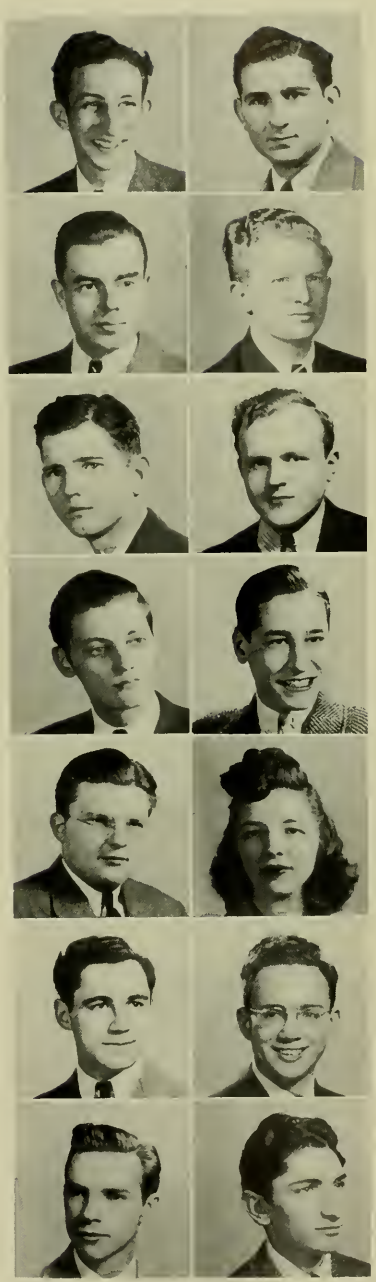
3305 Oakfield Avenue
"Du," the class anglesmith, who plans every angle but none ever pan out.



JOHN JAMES O'HARA
1826 West North Avenue
There are two types of students: Those that know nothing and brag, and those that know everything and are silent. John is one of the latter.

HOWARD AUGUST PIPPIG, JR.
12 Howard Avenue, Catonsville, Maryland
"Pip," the class treasurer, who finds that it is as easy to get money out of the class as pulling out their teeth.

ISRAEL MORRIS RUDDIE
2900 Huntington Avenue
Quiet, peaceful, yet when he is around you can more than see him.

RAYMOND SACHS
1636 Gwynns Falls Parkway

MELVIN MORRIS SAVITZ
2900 Huntington Avenue
No one but a poet could fully describe our Melvin and do justice to him.

PAUL SIFEN
5801 Narcissus Avenue
A newcomer from V.P.I. who found it tough to get started, but when he did he went right to the heart of the class.

CHARLES IRVEL SMITH
2435 East Preston Street
As usual, there is nothing but praise for his scholastic ability that can be said about "Charley."

LEON STRAUSS
1708 Gwynns Falls Parkway
Leon is the Sir Galahad of the class. So the boys elected him Sergeant-at-Arms.

CHARLES HAMMOND WAGNER
3814 Woodhaven Avenue
The class anglesmith, who is always figuring out angles, for one thing or another.

The Students' Auxiliary of the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association started the season auspiciously with a lecture by Dr. E. F. Kelly upon the "Importance of the Pharmacist and His Duties." Mr. Lum, of Upjohn Company, next showed the Auxiliary motion pictures illustrating the use of adrenal cortex hormone. A short lecture followed the picture.

The "Student News" section in the Maryland Pharmacist was continued under the able direction of Alder Simon, Editor.

We are glad to say that the Auxiliary is now an integral part of the school and that the students are developing interest in the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association and the activities outside of pharmacy school, both of which are the primary objects of the organization.

Mr. Charles E. Sonnenburg
Honorary President
Alumni Association, School of Pharmacy,
University of Maryland, 1941-1942

Mr. Charles E. Sonnenburg was born in Baltimore, Maryland, on October 5, 1870. He received his early education in a school conducted by St. John's Lutheran Church, Lombard and Catherine Streets, known in those days as "The Butcher School."

Mr. Sonnenburg began his apprenticeship with Charles C. Habliston, N.E. corner of Baltimore and Gay Streets, on February 4, 1885. This apprenticeship was served in the same room in which the first lectures of the Maryland College of Pharmacy were given in 1841, the office of Dr. Thomas G. Mackenzie. He attended the Maryland College of Pharmacy and received the Ph.G. degree in 1890. He matriculated in the School of Medicine of the University of Maryland in 1892, but did not complete the course. The practice of pharmacy being more to his liking, he gave up the study of medicine to devote his entire time and efforts to pharmacy.

On January 24 1894, Mr. Sonnenburg acquired a drug store at the N.W corner of Baltimore and Greene Streets, originally started in 1854 and conducted by Elisha H Perkins. On November 20, 1909, he acquired from the estate of his preceptor, Charles C. Habliston, the drug store at the N.E. corner of Baltimore and Gay Streets. Mr. Sonnenburg retired from active participation in the retail drug business on September 21, 1921.

Mr. Sonnenburg is a charter member of the present Calvert Drug Co. He is also a charter member of the Admiral Perpetual Savings and Loan Association. He has been on its Board of Directors from the beginning, and for the major portion of the forty-five years has served as Assistant Secretary and Treasurer.

Mr Sonnenburg is an active fraternalist. He is a member of the Warren Lodge No. 51, A. F. & A. M., of the Columbia Lodge, No. 3, I. O. O. F., and of many other fraternal and civic organizations.

In recognition of his service to pharmacy and his interest in the School of Pharmacy, Mr. Sonnenburg was elected Honorary President of the Alumni Association of the School of Pharmacy for 1941 42 at the annual meeting of the Alumni Association held at the Emerson Hotel on June 25, 1941

"The Society of the Alumni of the Maryland College of Pharmacy" was organized on May 15, 1871, and continued its separate existence as such or as "The Alumni Association of the Maryland College of Pharmacy" until 1907, when the General Alumni Association of the University of Maryland was formed. Following the organization of the General Alumni Association, the Society remained dormant until June 4, 1926, when it was re-established as "The Alumni Association of the School of Pharmacy of the University of Maryland." Each year it is more evident that interest in the Alumni Association is not only maintained, but is growing.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

As President of your Alumni Association for this eventful year, let me first extend congratulations and sincere best wishes of this group; and then I would remind you of a decision you must make:

"Will you, in the years that lie before you, be a credit to your chosen profession?"

Your affirmative answer can be helped a great deal by adopting a plan at once.

You have acquired theoretical knowledge from one of the outstanding colleges of pharmacy of the land and now you must learn to apply it through practice.

This can best be accomplished by associating with your fellow pharmacists. Join him in any pharmaceutical endeavor which is constructive whether it be fraternal, city, state or national. This endeavor is bound to yield satisfaction, respect and pleasure. Show me a graduate who divorces himself from organized pharmacy and in most instances I can show you a person who criticizes our profession.

Whatever branch of pharmacy you may follow, endeavor to reflect credit to it for your state has a tradition to uphold.

O. W. MUEHLHAUSE.

The Student Council of the School of Pharmacy was organized on April 7, 1926. The Council is a representative group composed of twelve members, three elected from each class. It supervises, in a general way, the social and athletic activities of the school, and seeks to encourage and foster in the student body a friendly and wholesome spirit which will reflect honor on the splendid traditions of the University.

The Student Council has been a means of instilling a feeling of fellowship among the students, and has continually worked for the development of harmony and co-operation between the student body and the faculty. The Council has sought to instill in each student the desire to conduct himself honestly, fairly, and courteously in all his activities, both within and without the University. The liberal policy which has characterized its supervision of the extra-curricular activities has met with the general approval and co-operation of the student body.

Editor's Message

The Pharmacy School of the University of Maryland, nationally renowned for its high scholastic standing, its famous historical background, its advanced teaching methods, and its superior faculty, stands out from all other Maryland colleges on merit alone. Therefore, it is needless for anyone, even the editor of this college publication, to write page upon page of praise for a school that can very well hold its own. It would, however, be more fitting to say a word or two about the human element which makes our college.

Enough cannot be said for the long-suffering and forbearing faculty who bring to class not only expert knowledge of their particular subject, but subtly seek to diffuse in the reluctant and stubborn student mind their personal philosophy of living. These men and women have given their lives to their work in the hope that through enlightenment of the students in their charge other human beings may be aided. As Americans of today, they are carrying on the torch of learning in the face of world upheaval, and it is plainly our duty as citizens and potential leaders of the community, to uphold their faith.

We, the graduates, cannot let them down! We may have revolted at assignments that seemed too strenuous, at exams that seemed too probing, at personal reprimands that were more than deserving, but we must not lose sight of the outstanding fact that for four years our faculty has striven to make of us their ideal of the Real American. This thought is for each and every student personally, to carry with him through life. The foundation upon which to build his own edifice has been laid. For him to reach high and gain, is success—to forget the principles and ideals taught him, is failure.

Orchids to you, our faculty! We will all strive to do our best.

Alder Simon

JAMES HARTLEY BEAL

1861-

Among those who are active workers in the pharmaceutical field of today there are probably not many who have devoted their lives more completely and unselfishly to the best interest of that calling than Professor James Hartley Beal, whose career began September 23, 1861, near New Philadelphia, Ohio. He received the education of the municipality and then entered the profession of Pharmacy in Uhrichsville, Ohio.

Filled with the ambition for a college education, he entered the Scio College, graduating from that institution in 1884, with the degree of Ph.B. He then studied Chemistry and Pharmacy in the University of Michigan, also attending the Law School of that institution.

In 1895 he received the degree of Doctor of Science in Curia from Mount Union College and Phar.D. from the University of Western Pennsylvania. He was Dean of the Department of Pharmacy of Scio College from 1887 until 1908, and was the acting president of that institution from 1902 to 1904.

Professor Beal became a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association in 1892, and has since served in various capacities as Secretary and then as Chairman of the Section on Education and Legislation, President of the Association (1904-1905), Chairman of the Council, Chairman of the Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties, besides serving on various important committees.

In 1900 Professor Beal was elected a member to the United States Pharmacopoeial Board of Trustees, and has served as Chairman of that body since 1910. In 1911 he was elected General Secretary of the American Pharmaceutical Association and Editor of the official Journal of that organization. His hard work resulted in failing of health, which compelled his resignation from the combined offices June 1, 1941, and a few months later he moved to Urbana, Illinois, to spend the remainder of his life.

Activities

THE MIXER COMMITTEE

The Mixer

The School of Pharmacy opened the social season for 1941-42 on November 11, 1941, by holding the annual "Mixer" at the Maryland Casualty Club House. At the reception the students and their guests were presented to the members of the faculty and their wives. This was followed by dancing to the enjoyable music of the Debonairs. Refreshments were served by the Refreshment Committee consisting of H. Boyd Wylie, Jr., Chairman; Miss Margaret Folk; Miss Alice Harrison; Miss Doris Imber; Miss Charlotte Zentz; Elmar Berngartt; Leo Lathroum; Edward T. Meiser; Howard Pippig; Sherman Pritzker; Melvin Savitz; Nathan Schwartz; Melvin Shochet; Alder Simon; Benjamin Scheinin; Charles Smith; August VandenBosche; Charles Wagner; William Wiener.

The success of the affair may be attributed to the work of Mr. Theodore T. Dittrich, faculty advisor of the Student Council; to Milton Reisch, president of the Fourth Year Class; and to members of the Student Council under whose supervision the affair was held.

THE SENIOR PROM

Junior Prom

On the evening of February 24, the Junior Class held a most enjoyable banquet and dance in the main ballroom of the Stafford Hotel. The entire faculty and student body were invited to the dance.

The evening began with the banquet which was enlivened by speeches from Dr. A. G. DuMez, Dr. Walter H. Hartung, Dr. Thomas C. Grubb, Mr. Theodore T. Dittrich and Nathan Schwartz, class president.

Delightful music for dancing was furnished by "the Brigadiers," under the direction of Jerry Owens, and a festive mood made the affair a gala one, long to be remembered. Much credit is due the committee for their splendid work. The committee consisted of Alfred Klotzman, chairman; Leonard Applebaum, Robert Hasse, Melvin Sindler, Alvin Siegel, Leo B. Lathroum, Benjamin Scheinin, Norman Sober and Joseph Shear.

GEORGE DRAGENDORFF

1836-1898

Professor Dr. George Dragendorff was born April 20, 1836, at Rostock, Germany, and died at his birthplace on April 7, 1898. He attended the public schools at Rostock, and at the age of seventeen had finished his studies in the gymnasium. Being desirous of associating himself with pharmacy, he was apprenticed to the renowned Dr. Witte. After three years' experience he was acknowledged an assistant, and in 1858 passed the State examination. He then entered the University of Heidelberg for a year, and then went to the University of Rostock, where he obtained his degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

In 1862 he became editor of the "Pharmaceutische Zeitschrift fur Russland," and at the same time the director of the laboratories of the Pharmaceutical Society of St. Petersburg. In the latter he performed the chemical analysis for the standard work, "Die Gerichtlich-Chemische Ermitte-ung von Giften," which has passed through four editions. In two years his scientific labors attracted so much attention that he was offered the Chair of Pharmacy and the Directorship of the Pharmaceutical Institute in Dorpat, Russia. This he accepted, and remained here for thirty years.

The sterling character of the man and his labors were not only appreciated at home, but also abroad. In 1872 he was given an honorary degree of Doctor of Medicine by the members of the Pharmaceutical Society of Britain, and in 1885 he was awarded the Hanbury Medal. In 1893 he was elected an honorary member of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy. It is estimated that he was an honorary or corresponding member of no less than forty different scientific bodies.

The University of Dorpat suffered a change in its administration, and Professor Dragendorff, among others, left. He then returned to the home of his youth and built, in connection with his home, a laboratory, where he continued his writings and investigations.

A Senior's Adventure

At 9:30 A. M. the bus arrives at 32 S. Greene Street, accompanied by torrents of rain . . . with songs and cheers aplenty, we're off at 9:40 on our journey of exploration . . . Shortly after 11:00 we arrive at the American Institute of Pharmacy building in Washington . . . Inside we are introduced to Mr. Robert W. Rodman, Editor of the Practical Pharmacy Edition of the Journal of the American Pharmaceutical Association . . . Mr. Rodman conclusively reviews the history and purpose of the Institute and the Association . . . Then we divide into groups and are escorted through the building by members of the staff, who elucidate some of the profound mysteries . . . amazed at the modern and complete equipment . . . wish we had the same, then Q.A. would be a snap . . . We spend almost an hour examining the articles in the museum and browsing in the well-stacked library . . . When we leave the building the rain has disappeared and the sun is shining . . . Again we occupy the bus, traveling to an unknown destination. Dr. Chapman is now directing the driver, and we finally reach a tremendous building, the Department of Agriculture . . . We enter the building and board an elevator to the sixth floor, where we find that we are to partake of a meal in an immense cafeteria . . . The food is delicious and inexpensive . . . Finally we proceed by labyrinthine passages to the division of Pharmacology of the Food and Drug Administration, where, after a short talk by Dr. H. O. Calvery, chief of the division, who acquaints us with the duties of the department, we are taken on a tour of the laboratories . . . The work being done is instructive and fascinating, and that which proves most interesting is examining the animal experiments . . . At 4:30 we are again on the bus and our next stop College Park, where we have an ice-cream treat by Dr. Chapman . . . Home at last at 6:10.

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that the first pharmacist, according to history, was a woman? She was the Greek goddess, Hygeia. This fact proves that pharmacy is a woman's field which men have invaded, rather than vice versa—as is popularly believed.

Do You Remember?

It's True!

8:30 A. M. Why do I always have to open up the morning after a big shindig? Oh, me! A customer waiting outside already. Greetings received—"Why the ——— don't you open up earlier? It's cold, and I have been standing here a minute and a half. Sorry, but I gotter get some sleep, too. Take a 3¢ stamp out of $5." Take it easy, this is only the beginning. . . . Second customer arouses me from my reverie. "Mind if I use your phone, Doc?" Of course not. What do you think it's hanging on the wall for—an ornament? . . . First ℞ of the day, twelve powders, and my eyes are shut so tight I can hardly see. Oh, well, they will help pass the time away. . . . Honest, on mornings like this time never heard that old proverb, "Tempus fugit," or at least it doesn't act like it. I could move faster with fallen arches than the hands of that clock. . . . Brring, Brring!!! All right, I'm coming! Hello, . . . . Anybody's Drug Store! Yes, yes, yes, is that all?—Yes, I see—all right. Thank you. Send ten 2¢ stamps, five 3¢ stamps, a money order, 10¢ tin of Unlax and change for $50 check. That Mrs. U. Knowher would try the patience of 947½ saints. . . . Yes, sir. That mixer sure was a honey. Good food, music and friends. Who could want more? I ask you. . . . I almost had convulsions over this. About 12 noon a guy slides up and cautiously asks, "What's the smallest size of psychology you got?" Huh?!! Oh, yes. Psychology. I'm sorry, sir, but that isn't for sale. It's a state of mind (or is it?). Seems he knew a drunk who was cured by psychology and wanted to try it on his family. Such is the lot of the hard-working pharmacist. . . . Listening to radio during lunch hour to stay awake—I must be slipping. Food doesn't keep me awake any more. . . . Heard this silly song, "B-I—By B-O—Bo, etc." Next thing you know somebody wants to know how to dial Gilmor. So, obliging-like, I start G-I, Gi—G-O, Goe, etc. Silly but effective. The customer got his number. . . . As I said once before, Tempus isn't fugiting today. . . . Kid asks for two packs of cigarettes and a candy bar. He wants change. "Where's your money?" I ask. "You got it," says he. "Oh, no, I haven't," counters I, real quick. Then he opens his hand and there is a dollar bill. You have to be firm with that kind. . . . After supper things really pick up. . . . First off, somebody phones in that old P. A. joke and then real fast gives me the trolley-line crack. . . . Two seconds later they will call back and recite poetry:

Mary, Mary, quite contrary,
How does your garden grow?
With cockel shell and daisy bells,
And one damn petunia.
How the devil did that get there?

Things like that keep one young, don't they? . . . Dr. Hugh Donit, on way to office, stops in to get something good for a cold. He can't cure himself. . . . That "Gimme-3¢ stamp" customer just gave me an argument. "I haven't any stamps at all!" "What, no 3's?" "No. 3's." "And no 2's?" "That's right." "Not any 1's?" "No, not any 1's." "Oh, you don't have any stamps. Why didn't you say so?" Well, after holding my temper at that, I'm weak, I need rest. . . . As 9 P. M. approaches, all the boys in the neighborhood drop in to find where all the others went. Some day I'll put up a bulletin board; it'll be easier that way! . . . "Will you please call Mrs. U. Knowher to the phone?" "I'm sorry, but I can't just now." If she paid that ten-year-old bill she could get a phone. . . . Funny incident No. 2. A very hoarse gentleman asks for some "Tonto Lozenges." Must have heard the Long Ranger. He settled for "Thantis Lozenges." . . . A defense worker wants me to teach him trig. Trig? What's that, an abbreviation for trigger? That's right, act dumb! . . . Just got a $2 ℞ from Dr. H. E. Sellsit. He is the dispenser. Only writes an ℞ if it costs him over 20¢ and he can't charge $1.25. Maybe I should have taken up medicine. . . . As the witching hour—that's closing time—approaches, business really goes into a spring. Can't close up until twenty minutes after business hours are officially over, and I'm so tired I can't even look an easy chair in the eye. . . .Store closed, clerks gone, and I trudge wearily off to bed. I do have one comforting thought — I don't have to open up tomorrow. Sn-z-z-z- — the boss d-o-e-s-n-zzz.

WOMEN IN THE MORTAR

To whom it may concern: At last we've found the answer to the ever-present question, heretofore unanswered by any female, living or dead, as to why girls study pharmacy. There is but one visible reply to such an interrogation, "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread."

We hope that this closes the issue forever and that our progeny will not be approached with the same overwhelming problem.

Questions and Answers

We all know how easy it is for the pencil to slip in writing, or the tongue to slip in speaking. The mistakes made in these moments have caused confusion to all. The following articles are excerpts from a collection of student errors. Read them and grin; but remember, they might be yours!

Question: How is camphor excreted?
Answer: As camphor water.
Question: Tell what you know about coramine.
Answer: Coramine is what every doctor should carry in his bag.
Question: What is a linctus?
Answer: A linctus is not a liniment.
Question: What is natural immunity?
Answer: Natural immunity is being able to catch a disease without the aid of a doctor.
Question: Do you have to wet wetted filter paper?
Question: What is water composed of?
Answer: Water is composed of two gins—oxygen and hydrogen. Oxygen is pure gin; hydrogen is gin and water.
Question: Why do we not raise the silkworm in the United States?
Answer: We get our silk from the rayon. He is a larger animal and gives more silk.
Question: Name the parts of the flower.
Answer: The flower has five parts, sepals, pedals, antlers, pistil and trigger.
Question: Show how a knowledge of biology is valuable in pruning trees.
Answer: Cut off all the dead limbs, remove all pieces of dead bark, cement up all holes so bugs can't get in, and the tree will bear prunes.
Question: Define $H_2O$ and $CO_2$.
Answer: $H_2O$ is hot water and $CO_2$ is cold water.
Question: What is the spinal column?
Answer: The spinal column is a long bunch of bones. The head sits on top and you sit on the bottom.

MISS-STATEMENTS

Chlorine gas is very injurious to the human body, and the following experiments should, therefore, only be performed on the teacher.

The metric system refers to kilograms, centrigrams, telegrams, etc.

Hargreaves invented an improved machine for spinning cotton threads. He called this a jenny in honor of his wife. Crompton also invented a similar machine. He called it a mule.

For fainting: Rub the person's chest; or, if a lady, rub her arms above the hand.
